

2014 Mathematical Contest in Modeling®

Press Release—April 4, 2014

COMAP is pleased to announce the results of the 30th annual Mathematical Contest in Modeling (MCM). This year, 6755 teams representing institutions from eighteen countries participated in the contest. Thirteen teams from the following institutions were designated as OUTSTANDING WINNERS:

Beijing Normal University, China
Chongqing University, China
College of Information Science and Engineering;
Northeastern University, China
Huazhong University of Science and Technology, China
Nanjing University, China
NC School of Science and Mathematics, Durham, NC
Shanghai Jiaotong University, China
Southeast University, China
Southwest University for Nationalities, China
Tsinghua University, China
Tufts University, Medford, MA
University of International Business and Economics, China
Zhejiang University, China

This year's contest ran from Thursday, February 6 to Monday, February 10, 2014. During that time, teams of up to three undergraduate or high school students researched, modeled, and submitted a solution to one of two modeling problems. The 2014 MCM was primarily an online contest. Teams registered, obtained contest materials, and downloaded the problem and data at the prescribed time through COMAP's MCM Website.

The two 2014 MCM problems represented significant challenges:

Problem A: "The Keep-Right-Except-To-Pass-Rule" (Michael Tortorella, Author)

Build and analyze a mathematical model to analyze the performance of this rule in light and heavy traffic. You may wish to examine tradeoffs between throughput and safety, the role of under- or over-posted speed limits (speed limits that are too low or too high) and/or other factors that may not be explicitly called out in this problem statement. Is this rule effective in promoting greater throughput? If not, suggest and analyze alternatives (including deleting the rule totally) that might promote greater throughput, safety, and/or other factors that you deem important.

In countries where driving on the left is the norm, argue whether or not your solution can be implemented with a simple change of orientation, or would additional requirements be needed.

Lastly, the rule as stated relies on human judgment for compliance. If vehicle transportation on the same roadway was fully under the control of an intelligent system, as either part of the road network or imbedded in the design of all vehicles, to what extent would this change the outcome of your earlier analysis?

Problem B: "College Coaching Legends" (Bill Fox, Author)

Sports Illustrated, a magazine for sports enthusiast, is looking for the "best all-time college coach" male or female, for the past century. Build a mathematical model to choose the best college coach or coaches (past or present) from among male or female coaches in such sports as college hockey or field hockey, football, baseball, softball, basketball, or soccer. Does it make a difference which time horizon you use in your analysis (i.e., does coaching in 1913 differ from coaching in 2013)? Clearly articulate your metrics for assessment. Discuss how your model can be applied in general across both genders and across all sports. Present your top 5-10 coaches in each of three different sports.

Prepare a 1-2 page article for Sports Illustrated explaining your results and include a non-technical explanation of your mathematical model that sports fans will understand.

A selection from the Outstanding solution papers will be featured in The UMAP Journal, along with commentaries from the problem authors and judges. All 6755 of the competing teams are to be congratulated for their excellent work and enthusiasm for mathematical modeling and interdisciplinary problem solving.

To obtain additional information about the MCM and to obtain a complete listing of all team designations, please visit the MCM Website at: www.mcmcontest.com, or contact COMAP at: mcm@comap.com.

Major funding for the MCM is provided by COMAP. Additional support is provided by the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS) and Two Sigma Investments. COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, and workers.
